

Third Annual Alumni Reunion Held

The Law School held its third annual alumni reunion on April 27 in Denver. Nearly 225 people attended. D. Robert White, the author of the comic best seller The Official Lawyers Handbook was the principal speaker. The gathering provided an opportunity for alumni to reacquaint themselves with former classmates and to honor alumni who have made significant contributions to society since graduating from the Law School. The following seven alumni were honored for achievement in the following specific areas:

Chuck Mau ('32)

For Distinguished Achievement in Private Practice. Chuck Mau has had a distinguished career as an attorney and public servant in Hawaii. Currently senior partner with the law firm of Mau, White & Yee in Honolulu, he has been Deputy Attorney General of the Territory of Hawaii and a judge on the Hawaii Tax Appeal Court. He was appointed a Circuit Court Judge for the Territory of Hawaii in 1950 by President Truman, and he was instrumental in Hawaii's being admitted to the Union as the country's 50th state in 1959. Besides serving on numerous civic, community and social organizations in Hawaii, Mr. Mau is the recipient of the University of Colorado Alumni Award and the University's Norlin Award, and he established the Mau Law Scholarship Fund at the School of Law. He also serves as a Director of the University of Colorado Foundation and is a member of the University's Hall of Fame "C" Club.

(continued on p. 8)

Alumni Reunion (cont.)

1984 Alumni Award Recipients: (L-R) Gerald Harrison ('56), Christina K. Bearman ('76), Chuck Mau ('32), Patricia Anne Clark ('61), Sidney E. Pleasant ('28), Clarence R. Morris ('25), and Roy Romer ('52)

Alumni Notes

Chuck Mau ('32) and his wife Karen were the subject of the cover story in the February, 1985 issue of "RSVP" magazine. In the article, Mr. Mau is quoted as saying of his six years of study at the University of Colorado, "I never forgot the people of Colorado and how kind and good they were to me. When I could afford it, I created a Mau law scholarship fund. That fund is to be used only by the residents and citizens of the state of Colorado. It was my way of showing my appreciation for all that was done for me." Mr. Mau has received the University of Colorado Alumni Award, the Norlin Award and, in 1984, the School of Law Alumni Award for Distinguished Achievement in Private Practice.

Thomas Jefferson Boyd Reed ('72) was appointed a judge for Boulder County last May by Governor Lamm. He had served as a public defender in Denver and Boulder from 1973 to 1977 and been in private practice from 1978 until the time of his appointment.

Chuck Mau ('32)

California; and Chuck Mau ('32), who was appointed Circuit Court Judge for the Territory of Hawaii in 1950 by President Truman. All four bankruptcy judges currently sitting in Colorado, Roland J. Brumbaugh ('71), Patricia A. Clark ('61), Charles E. Matheson ('61), and John F. McGrath ('50), are graduates of the Law School.